Choosing "the Better Part"

By Mary Katharine Deeley

During the holidays, my husband and I invite relatives, friends, and students who can't return home to share our meal and find welcome in a special time. We enjoy cooking for a crowd, and our guests often bring something to share, adding to the bounty. Beforehand, we clean and dust, making sure the house is presentable. Our preparations are anything but relaxed. On the day itself, my husband usually cooks the meal while I offer drinks and conversation. The event couldn't succeed without either of our roles.

In the first reading, Abraham put wife Sarah and the servants to work to provide the feast while he waited on the guests. To his (and his wife's) surprise, the strangers asked where Sarah was and promised her a son. In this moment, we see that Abraham isn't the only important person in the story. God's blessing came mainly to the one in the kitchen, in the background.

When Jesus visits the sisters of Bethany, Martha remains in the kitchen like Sarah. In her anxiety, did she believe God's favor would come only to those who toil? Jesus reminds her there also is blessing in sitting with the guest; he even calls this "the better part."

There is pride and vanity in assuming we can achieve favor and blessing through our works. When we start to think we know where, when, how, and to whom God will come, it's good to return to the word, which reminds us that favor and blessing come according to God's choosing and often to our surprise. +

Sunday Readings

Genesis 18:1–10a

One of them said, "I will return to you about this time next year, and Sarah will then have a son."

Colossians 1:24–28

It is he whom we proclaim, admonishing everyone and teaching everyone with all wisdom.

Luke 10:38–42

The Lord said to her in reply, "Martha, Martha, you are anxious and worried about many things. There is need of only one thing."

A Word from Pope Francis

When elderly couples, celebrating fifty years together, come to audiences of Mass here, I ask them: "Who supported whom?" This is beautiful! Everyone looks at each other, the look at me and say: "Both!" This is a beautiful witness!

—Address to engaged couples at St. Peter's Basilica, February 14, 2014

REFLECTION

- Do I focus on daily tasks at the expense of ignoring what makes life truly meaningful?
- When I speak to someone, do I give him or her my full attention, or does my mind wander to the next thing?

Marriage in the Middle

By Susan Hines-Brigger

Recently my husband and I went on a date ...to the grocery store... without our four kids. Exciting, right? For us, it was. It was wonderful and exciting because it was the closest thing we've had to a date night in a long time. Welcome to the second stage of marriage.

Twenty years ago, Mark and I stood before our family and friends and promised to love, honor, and cherish one another in good times and bad, in sickness and health. Now, looking back, I can confidently say we had no idea what those vows actually meant.

In the first years of our marriage, we managed to adapt to life with one another and our quirks. But then our first child, Maddie, came along and everything changed. I'm often reminded of a quote from my favorite movie, Hope Floats: "Beginnings are scary, endings are usually sad, but it's the middle that counts the most."

Suddenly life in this middle stage of marriage meant we were faced with a new set of challenges. Lack of sleep, different parenting styles, hectic schedules, and career goals seemed to push our relationship to the edge. Time together as a couple took a back seat. We became aware that these are the years when the rubber meets the road when it comes to marriage. It's the time when we put tough flesh on our vows.

We would commiserate with friends—many of whom found themselves in the same situation—about things like nearly nonexistent sex lives, financial struggles, house repairs, and a complete lack of a social life.

The subsequent births of our next three children over the next ten years brought more and new challenges to our marriage—and meant less time for us grownups to spend together. My role as bad cop to Mark's good cop has caused more than its share of arguments. But we ride out the ebbs and flows, knowing full well that we are in this for the long haul. That's not to say it's always easy, though.

It's easy to see how so many couples drift apart during this stage. Adding to the challenge is what seems to be a lack of support for those couples in the second stage of their marriage journey. Suddenly, the support systems that help couples get to the altar fade away.

A Change in Perspective

Relationships will change from day to day, month to month, year to year. But for all its challenges, life in this stage of marriage can also be exciting and filled with blessings and adventures. Traveling that journey with your spouse has the potential to bring you closer if you work together.

So, yes, date nights might now consist of a rented movie after the kids have gone to bed or Friday night at the grocery. And while lunch dates have replaced dinner dates, the important thing is that we're together. And now that Maddie is of babysitting age, we are slowly starting to rediscover date nights and more time alone—thus the exciting grocery store adventure. It's not much, but we'll take what we can get.

The most important thing is to stay connected, remembering that we are on the same team. That is as true in this stage of marriage as it was in the beginning and will continue to be into the next stage. Sometimes the best you can do is grocery shopping on a Friday night.

Before we know it, our kids will be grown and our marriage will move into a new phase. Who knows what's in store for us? Whatever it is, though, I'm sure that Mark and I are up for the challenge. +

Lord, you teach us to love and welcome strangers. Remove the fear that keeps me from accepting and loving people with backgrounds different from mine.

O ever-Immaculate Virgin, Mother of Mercy,
health of the sick, refuge of sinners,
comforter of the afflicted,
you know my wants, my troubles, my sufferings;
look with mercy on me.
By appearing in the Grotto of Lourdes,
you were pleased to make it a privileged sanctuary,
whence you dispense your favours;
and already many sufferers have obtained
the cure of their infirmities, both spiritual and corporal.
I come, therefore, with complete confidence to implore your maternal intercession.
Obtain, O loving Mother, the grant of my requests.

I will endeavour to imitate your virtues,

We remain in need of volunteers to help carry communion to our many shut-ins. This ministry is vital to the spiritual care of those who have spent their entire lives at Our Lady of Lourdes Parish. Please prayerfully consider helping in the rewarding service of bringing Christ to those who are no longer able to attend Mass.
